

Face to face with yourself

Wish You Were Here

EVELIEN DE VLIAGER

Hazel wants to forget B. And what better way to forget someone than to move away for a while and devote all your time to someone else's children? Hazel starts working as an au pair for a family in Bournemouth, England. Before long, she's become friends with the peculiar eight-year-old Isaac – and happily puts up with Frank, his pet snail. Hazel has her hands full with one-year-old Lizzie, but she's only too pleased about that. After all, the long-awaited pleading messages from B. have failed to materialise on her phone. And Hazel can't figure out dad William, especially not when it comes to the whereabouts of Jo, the family's mum. Hazel decides to track her down. In the meantime, B. keeps haunting her.

An unbelievably beautiful book. A unique, authentic voice in Flemish literature.

MAPPALIBRI

With a great sense of humour and a lightness of touch Evelien De Vliager paints the portrait of a girl on the cusp of life, who thinks she wants to forget. 'Wish You Were Here' is about facing yourself, about letting go, and about daring to admit that you can't. As Hazel steers a course between melodramatic self-pity and a gleefully cynical outlook on life, 'Wish You Were Here' explores the boundaries between tragedy and comedy. A bitter-sweet book full of lust for life.

Evelien De Vliager intertwines letting go, acceptance and perseverance. A scintillating and sensitive YA novel.

LEESDAME

AUTHOR

Evelien De Vliager (b. 1969) is a writer and translator. She creates fictional worlds that feel familiar but are always unpredictable, that captivate without being melodramatic. She writes quirky stories set in the here and now, with plenty of subtle humour. Her oeuvre ranges from nonfiction and picture books to stories for beginning readers and YA novels. Photo © Iris Beeckman
