

It's a dog's life

Shut That Door

KOEN VAN BIESEN

Two dogs are sitting quietly in Brasserie Bulldog. The Great Dane, neatly turned out in a tie and bowler hat, is reading the newspaper. The French bulldog is busy working on his laptop, paying little heed to his surroundings. Bad weather is forecast and it's not long before the wind starts to cause chaos in their corner of the brasserie. After the wind comes the rain, and then a whole procession of other dogs who each in their own way get on the Great Dane's nerves. For goodness sake, who left that door open?

Hilarious and brilliant

MAPPALIBRI

The situation slowly but surely gets out of hand until the Great Dane is on the verge of despair - which is great fun for the reader. The French bulldog's refusal to be ruffled and the unabashed curiosity of the other dogs make a further contribution to the humour. 'Shut That Door' playfully breaks through the fourth wall, eventually involving the reader directly. With his own unique collage style, Koen Van Biesen presents a lively new story full of details that catch the eye only after several readings.

A beautifully crafted piece of work

PUBLISHERS WEEKLY ON 'ROGER IS READING A BOOK'

AUTHOR

Koen Van Biesen (b. 1964) makes musical picture books, for which he creates the words, illustrations and music. His first book was published in 2006 and he has won a Vlag en Wimpel a number of times since then. Roger put him on the international map: the book is available in ten languages. His working method: a notebook full of little drawings, musical notes and snippets of history in which his ideas take shape.
